Burndown Chart

1. Did your estimations reflect the actual effort?

Yes. The story points generally reflected the relative complexity of the User Stories. More complex features such as loyalty point conversion and gift card redemption were assigned higher points than simpler features such as viewing points.

2. Was your backlog well-prioritized?

Yes. Core functionality such as authentication, loyalty point validation, conversion, gift card redemption, and voucher security was given High priority because these features are essential to the system.

3. How did your simulated sprint align with your plan?

The simulated sprint generally followed the planned workflow. User Stories were selected based on priority and Story Points, then moved from To Do to In Progress and finally to Done.

4. What insights did the Burndown Chart give about your team's capacity?

The Burndown Chart showed how quickly the planned Story Points were completed during the sprint. It helped indicate whether the selected workload was realistic and whether the team was progressing according to the expected sprint plan.
